

Dear Kirby;

Thank you for helping us find the perfect "Kirby-bird", named after you because our C-182 represents the best that this make and model has to offer. We discovered that you only deal in immaculate aircraft and your technical skills, and eye for detail are extraordinary.

As you know, for months we had been chasing airplanes from Trade-A-plane, the Controller, and other newspapers and internet sites. The story was always the same, disappointment. It seems the good aircraft were always gone, and so many others were misrepresented.

So, we turned to you for your help and guidance, and ended up finding an absolutely lovely aircraft, well-equipped, with low engine and airframe times, excellent avionics, and a luxurious leather interior.

The proof of our excellent buy came when we brought our "new" 1974 aircraft in for its annual inspection and our mechanic found pretty-much nothing wrong with it.

My husband and I, both retired captains for a major airline, have been active in aviation for a long time. But we are not experts at purchasing aircraft. In fact, I think any of us can all fall in love with a gorgeous paint job, but with Kirby's eye for detail, and his ability to see the warning signs of a troublesome bird, he kept us on track, and thanks to him, we ended up buying the perfect "Kirby bird"!

Sincerely,

Capt. Diane Rothberg
